

Molluso Marks 50 Years in Field of Law

Anthony “Jay” Molluso, a member of the team at Van Horn Law Group, P.A, this week celebrates 50 years in the field of law as a practicing attorney and paralegal combined.

Molluso joined Van Horn Law Group in 2010 when he moved to Fort Lauderdale from Pennsylvania to “retire,” after practicing law in Pennsylvania for 38 years. He joined the firm as a part-time paralegal* to stay busy and continue to be professionally involved in the field.

He quickly became an integral part of the Van Horn Law Group support team moving into a full-time post as a paralegal, assisting clients through the Chapter 11 system, which he continues today. Molluso is known in the office as a go-to guy for figuring out complex issues or telling a story about the good ole days. He models a strong ethical approach, which is reflected in his personal philosophy.

“My philosophy from five decades of practice is that at the end of the day all you have is your reputation,” said Molluso.

This viewpoint fits seamlessly into the Van Horn Law Group value system, yet another reason Molluso has been with the firm since near inception.

“We celebrate with Jay as he marks his 50th anniversary in the field,” said Chad Van Horn, Esq., founder and managing attorney at Van Horn Law Group. “He brings so much to our firm, and we’re grateful to have him on our team. In addition to his professional expertise, he also happens to be a wonderful singer and tends to break out into song in the office– which the entire staff loves. He’s a great person and professional on all levels.”

Before joining Van Horn Law group, Molluso served as general counsel to CENTAX, a private Pennsylvania corporation with 25 offices that collected local taxes for more than 300 municipalities and school districts. Previously, he was Chief Deputy Attorney General of Pennsylvania for 26 years, where he was in charge of delinquent tax collection for the state.

Molluso graduated from Hamilton College in New York, earned his juris doctor from Temple University School of Law in Philadelphia, and subsequently passed the Pennsylvania bar in November of 1969. Molluso and his husband are active members of the LGBT community. They reside in Wilton Manors.
